

Keep Good Players Onboard with Automated Age and Address Verification

As of May 2019, the UKGC has eliminated the 72-hour grace period for new customer age verification. Online gaming operators must now verify the name, address and date of birth before allowing a customer to play. Operators need to perform these checks quickly, or risk losing business.

If you rely exclusively on data aggregators for KYC compliance, then you already know a significant number of data look-ups (usually 35%-45% of cases), result in "no-match" results. Without a match, you're forced to deactivate the player's account and suffer the loss of revenue.

Turn those no-matches over to Jumio's ID Verification and Document Verification solutions. Jumio can provide a safety net to quickly establish the identity, age and address of new players before you lose them to a competitor.

ID Verification

Establish the genuine identity and age of your players by verifying government-issued IDs (i.e. driver's license) in real time. Jumio's advanced technologies detect digital manipulations of genuine ID images, content (name, address, date of birth, etc.) and face photo replacements.

Document Verification

Establish proof of address with ease. Your players can use a smartphone or computer to quickly scan documents such as utility bills and bank statements – even if the documents are crumpled or creased. Jumio can provide address information and a copy of the bank statement image for corroboration and operator review.
